DiskSpaceMon Full Product Key Free [Win/Mac]

DiskSpaceMon is a simple disk space monitor that displays a tray area or an informative pop-up message when you are running low on disk space. Because of its design, you can monitor multiple partitions, including FAT, FAT32, exFAT and NTFS. It is also possible to monitor NAS, USB, ZIP, ISO, DVD and Blu-ray drives. DiskSpaceMon Overview: DiskSpaceMon is a simple disk space monitor for Windows that displays a tray area or an informative pop-up message when you are running low on disk space. Since its design is very simple, you can monitor multiple partitions, including FAT, FAT32, exFAT and NTFS. You can also monitor NAS, USB, ZIP, ISO, DVD and Blu-ray drives. By using this simple software, you don't have to do anything complicated to ensure that you always know when too much of your disk space is being used. In just a few seconds, you can set everything up and then just access the tray icon whenever you want to monitor your disk space. If the space on the monitored drive falls below a certain value, DiskSpaceMon displays a tray area or pop-up notification. The tray icon also changes depending on the amount of disk space that is available. If you wish to see all the available space, a small icon appears in the tray area. If you click this icon, a pop-up window opens and lists the available space on the drives, and you can even access all the details in this list. Notifications are displayed in two different ways: as a tray area notification or as a pop-up notification. Tray area notifications are displayed in the system tray and notify you whenever you are running low on disk space. Because they have a small size, they are not very noticeable. If you wish to disable them completely, you can do so by selecting Tray Area – disable in the configuration window. Notifications can be customized to display a different message than the default or can be left blank. If you need to do so, you can configure them from the configuration window. This application was designed to be lightweight, simple and easy to configure. DiskSpaceMonitor-Mac is a Mac OS X disk space monitor that will keep you informed whenever you are running low on disk space. By using this simple software, you don't have to do anything complicated to ensure that you always know when too much of your disk space is being used. The main
